Customer Proprietary Network Information Notification

The FCC has adopted rules to protect your privacy with regard to telecommunications information that is personal to you. This information is called Customer Proprietary Network Information (CPNI) and can be found in your calling and billing records. CPNI includes such things as the type and quantity of the services subscribed to, the equipment and facilities used, and the numbers, dates, times and duration of the calls you place.

In an effort to better serve you, we may occasionally use or share your CPNI with you or with our affiliates and subsidiaries for the purpose of identifying and marketing services and features that directly fit your communications needs. You have the right to restrict access to, and the use and disclosure of your CPNI outside of the services to which you currently subscribe.

Allowing us to use the CPNI in your account gives us the ability to give you more personalized service and offer you the products and services that best fit your needs and potentially save you money. If you allow us to use your CPNI, it will be used only by Alpine Communications and its affiliates and subsidiaries. The data will not be shared with any other party without your permission.

You have a right under federal law to protect the confidentiality of your account information and we have a responsibility to protect your data. To restrict the use of your CPNI data, complete the bottom portion of this notice and return to us within 30 days of your receipt of this notice. If you agree to let Alpine Communications and its subsidiaries use your CPNI, you need to do nothing. Your denial of approval for Alpine Communications and its subsidiaries to use your CPNI will not affect the quality of your service or have any effect on the products and services to which you currently subscribe.

Your decision on the use of CPNI by Alpine Communications and its subsidiaries will remain valid until you change it. This can be done at any time by calling (563) 245-4000.
